

Kelly Wright works with clients, firm attorneys, and consultants in many aspects of land use and development entitlement matters. She has extensive experience representing clients in obtaining approvals for zoning, subdivisions, site development permits, building permits, land status determinations, variances, Texas Local Government Code Chapter 245 grandfathering, voluntary annexations and associated development agreements, and other regulatory matters throughout Central Texas. She works closely with city and county staff, boards and commissions, neighborhood associations, and council members to help guide real estate projects to completion.

Prior to joining Armbrust & Brown, PLLC in 2021, Kelly was employed by Coats Rose, P.C. and Clark, Thomas and Winters, P.C. where she fulfilled similar land use development duties for twenty years.
